“The first way to learn is the game” T. Berry Brazelton.

Pipou is an animated series dedicated to the awakening of children aged from 2 to 5 years old. Its principle is deeply inspired by those words and their meaning in the will to entertain.

The series is based around Pipou, a handy bear, and his various and colorful pals. All together they live in a fairy world where everyday is a new adventure. As a guest, the viewer is going to play his part in all those intrigues that can only be solved by the sum of differences that exists in a group of friends.

Each episode is build around a new story. While the fiction is a mix of learning primary notions, like colors, sounds, forms or music, combined with a problem to solve, the series is also featured some hilarious and purely entertaining interludes.
